GENERAL INFORMATION AND REGULATIONS

Every student of this faculty is bound by the rules contained in this document, the Nelson Mandela University's regulations contained in the General Prospectus, and all relevant policies. It is the responsibility of every student to acquaint him/herself with the contents of the relevant rules and policies.

GENERAL ADMISSION REQUIREMENTS (UNDERGRADUATE)

The admissions requirements for undergraduate programmes offered by Nelson Mandela University consist of:

- the statutory minimum requirements based on the National Senior Certificate (NSC), or equivalent school-leaving certificate;
- the Applicant Score (AS), a composite score based on school subject achievement; and
- specific school subject and other requirements (e.g., departmental selection, portfolios, interviews)

These requirements are relevant for the following local and international qualifications: NSC, Senior Certificate, Cambridge qualifications, International Baccalaureate, Namibian and Kenyan Senior Secondary Certificates, and the NC(V) 4.

NSC MINIMUM STATUTORY ENTRY REQUIREMENT

Qualification Minimum Statutory Entry Requirement:

Currently, the statutory requirement for admission to a higher certificate, diploma or degree programme is a National Senior Certificate with the appropriate endorsement and the minimum language of teaching and learning requirement of the Higher Education Institution.

Qualification	Minimum Statutory entry requirement
Higher Certificate	Pass the NSC, with a minimum of 30% in the language of learning and teaching of the higher education institution, together with any other university requirements.
Diploma	Pass the NSC with a minimum of 30% in the language of learning and teaching of the higher education institution, coupled with an achievement rating of 3 (40–49%) or more in four recognised NSC 20-credit subjects, together with any other university requirements
Bachelor's Degree	Pass the NSC with a minimum of 30% in the language of learning and teaching of the higher education institution, coupled with an achievement rating of 4 (50–59%) or more in four NSC 20-credit subjects together with any other university requirements.

NC(V)4 applicants must meet the minimum requirements for higher certificate, diploma, or degree entry and the AS and subject admission requirements.

Applicants with alternate, international, or foreign qualifications must satisfy the requirements laid down by the Matriculation Board to qualify for a certificate of exemption for a particular alternate, international or foreign school-leaving qualification.

These requirements are contained in Government Gazette No. 31674, 5 December 2008 and can be found on the HESA website <http://www.hesa-enrol.ac.za/mb/forpres.htm>. Applications for such certificates must be made directly to the Matriculation board: <https://mb.usaf.ac.za/>

THE APPLICANT SCORE (AS)

For NSC applicants with seven Grade 12 subjects, the AS is calculated by adding the percentages for the six 20-credit subjects (Note that the Life Orientation percentage is not included as it is a 10-credit subject). This gives a score out of 600.

For those applicants taking eight or more subjects the AS is calculated as follows:

- add the percentages obtained for the three compulsory/fundamental subjects (the two languages and Mathematics or Mathematical Literacy),
- plus, the percentage(s) for any subject(s) required by the programme,
- together with the percentage(s) for the next best / highest subject(s), to a maximum of six subjects.

For those applicants from Quintile 1 to 3 schools who attain 50% or higher for Life Orientation, 7 points are added to their score out of 600 to arrive at their final AS.

- Applicant 1 has 7 NSC Grade 12 subjects and is applying for a programme with Life Science and Physical Science as required subjects; and
- Applicant 2 who is applying for the same programme, but who took 8 subjects in Grade 12.
- Applicant 3 who is applying for the same programme, but who is from a Quintile 1 school.

NSC Subject	Applicant 1		Applicant 2		Applicant 3 from Quintile 1 school

APPLICANT SCORE (AS)		370		375		377

For South African and International applicants with International, NC(V) 4 or Foreign School-Leaving certificates, use the table below to calculate an equivalent Applicant Score (AS) for admission, based on percentages obtained in such certificates.

Applicants will have to comply with the minimum Applicant Score (AS) set for the Undergraduate qualification they wish to apply for, as well as meet any other additional subject requirements directly.

The Applicant Score (AS) uses the symbols/achievement rating/percentages obtained in an applicant's school-leaving examinations to convert them to an equivalent achievement standard on the National Senior Certificate (NSC). The AS is calculated using six subjects, which must include the language(s), and subject requirements for admission, but excluding Life Orientation.

SCHOOL SUBJECT AND OTHER REQUIREMENTS

The Undergraduate Programmes General Information & Admissions Requirements Guide, University website or Faculty Prospectus provides information on the required subjects and what the minimum AS required for admission is for each undergraduate programme offered by Nelson Mandela University

Candidates who satisfy the minimum requirements and who apply online before the official early closing date (August 3) are given a provisional acceptance status. A comprehensive selection process will be done in January of the following year.

Applications will be considered until the 30th of September.

Applicants who apply in January will have to apply through Central Application Service Hub (CASH).

Final acceptance is based on official final school-leaving results. Applicants currently at school receive provisional, subject to submission of final results.

GENERAL ADMISSION REQUIREMENTS (POSTGRADUATE)

LEVELS AND TYPES OF POSTGRADUATE STUDY

Postgraduate qualifications are structured as follows:

- Postgraduate certificate or diploma
- Bachelor honours degree
- Master's degree
- Doctoral degree

A postgraduate certificate or diploma provides an opportunity to undertake advanced study that will strengthen and deepen your knowledge in a particular discipline or profession. Completion of the qualification gives graduates access to a related master's degree programme. The programmes consist of coursework modules and may include conducting and reporting research under supervision. Duration of study: one year full-time

The bachelor honours degree is the initial postgraduate specialisation qualification, preparing students for research-based postgraduate study. This qualification typically follows a bachelor's degree and serves to consolidate and deepen the student's experience in a particular discipline, and to develop research capacity in the methodology and techniques of that discipline. It demands a high level of theoretical engagement and intellectual independence. In some cases, a bachelor honours degree carries recognition by an appropriate professional or statutory body. Bachelor honours degree programmes usually include conducting and reporting research under supervision, in a manner that is appropriate to the discipline or field of study. Not all honours programmes at Nelson Mandela University involve conducting research, but all of them include a research methodology course as part of the coursework component. Completion of a bachelor honours degree meets the minimum entry requirement of admission to a cognate Master's degree.

Entry into a master's degree programme is usually in the area of specialisation of the bachelor honours degree. A qualification may not be awarded for early exit from a bachelor honours degree.

Bachelor honours programmes usually take one year of full-time study.

A master's degree may be earned in one of two ways: (i) by completing a single advanced research project, culminating in the production and acceptance of a dissertation, or (ii) by successfully completing a coursework programme and a smaller applied research component. The admission requirement is a relevant honours degree. Professional or advanced career-focused bachelor's degrees, such as BEng, BPharm, BCur, BPsych and BTech, may also be recognised as the minimum entry requirement to a related master's degree programme. Duration of study: Coursework master's degree: one year full-time. Research master's degree: one year to 4 years.

A doctoral degree requires a candidate to undertake research at the most advanced academic level, culminating in the production of a thesis. The research outcome must make a significant and original academic contribution to a discipline or field. The degree may be earned through pure discipline based on multi-disciplinary or applied research. The degree may include a coursework component as preparation to the research but does not contribute to the credit value of the qualification. Duration of study: 2 to 6 years

READMISSION RULES FOR UNDERGRADUATE PROGRAMMES

The purpose of Policy on Academic Progression and Readmission to Undergraduate Programmes is to indicate both the process by which Senate determines readmission requirements and who has the authority to refuse readmission to a student who fails to satisfy such minimum requirements for admission.

The policy furthermore addresses the importance of reviewing student progress, where a student can obtain information on readmission requirements, the support afforded to students with conditional readmission, and the process to be followed to appeal a readmission refusal decision.

Nelson Mandela University upholds academic excellence in its endeavour to equip students with transformative and sustainable graduate attributes. Among the principles underpinning learning at the University is that lecturers have high expectations that students will succeed in their studies. Academic progression can be viewed as persistence and motivation to achieve a mark of 50% or more in the modules enrolled for. It is the responsibility of lecturers, professional academic support staff, and students to co-create learning experiences that promote excellence and foster student success.

Furthermore, in accordance with sound educational practices related to enhancing academic success, procedures need to be in place to regularly review the academic progress of students. Monitoring students' academic performance, psycho-social status and possible aggravating factors on an ongoing basis is a key strategy to enhance student success and throughput. Each Faculty Board must thus approve a process to review the performance of students at a module and/or programme level in their Faculty, submit the process to the Learning and Teaching Committee for approval, and monitor the implementation of the review process. Minimum requirements for readmission must be determined by faculties, submitted for approval to Senate and published in the faculty prospectus where applicable.

The following general principles will apply:

- Faculties should consider not only a level (i.e., number of credits accumulated per year of registration), but also a range in which conditional readmission will apply;
- Faculties should have the discretion to determine the minimum credit value for readmission to a particular programme;
- Where the maximum study period has been reached, but a student is close to graduating in that he/she only requires a few credits to graduate, the faculty should have clear criteria in place to apply discretion to readmit the student;
- Faculties should have the discretion to deal with possible exceptions.

READMISSION REQUIREMENTS PER PROGRAMME

To be readmitted to the Higher Certificate Law Enforcement programme, a student needs to have accumulated a minimum number of credits at the end of each year of study as indicated in the table below. Process to determine if readmission requirements have been met and to refuse readmission.

The following process must be followed when reaching a decision whether the readmission requirements have been met:

- The performance of all students registered for a programme in a faculty must be reviewed against the readmission requirements.
- Unless the Faculty Board decides otherwise, this review will normally take place at the end of an academic year.
- Students who have not yet reached the maximum years of study for their programme must be notified by Faculty Academic Administration if they have been readmitted as they met the requirements or if they have been conditionally readmitted and what the conditions are or if they have been refused readmission.
- The Head of Department/Director of School/Executive Dean has the delegated authority to refuse the readmission of students who have not accumulated a minimum number of credits at the end of each year of study, as indicated in the tables above or those who have reached the maximum years of study for their qualification but did not manage to complete the qualification.
- The Head of Department/Director of School in collaboration with Faculty Academic Administration must convey the fact that readmission has been refused and the reasons for this must be attached to the Student Record.
- The Head of Department/Director of School must be able to provide the detailed information that informed the decision, should the decision to refuse readmission be appealed.
- A student who has been refused readmission must be informed that they have a right to appeal.

Appeal procedure.

- The student has the right to appeal against a decision to refuse readmission.
- The appeal will normally be managed by the Faculty Management Committee, unless the Faculty Board determines that another faculty committee must consider the appeal. In the latter instance, the Faculty Board must determine the composition of the committee. The decision reached by the appropriate faculty committee regarding the readmission appeal will be final and no further appeal will be permitted.
- The process followed to apply for, consider and deal with a readmission appeal is as follows:
 - A student must submit their appeal in writing on a prescribed readmission appeal form, with full motivation and supporting documentation, to their Faculty Academic Administration Consultant by either the last day of the re-examination period or within five (5) working days of receiving notification of readmission refusal, whichever date is the latest.

- Faculty Academic Administration must forward the appeal, together with a copy of the student's study record and the letter in which the student was informed that he/she was being refused readmission, to the Faculty Management Committee.
- The Faculty Management Committee or the committee identified by the faculty to do so will then manage the appeal where consideration could be given to factors such as:
 - Whether the student participated in programmes and activities to enhance their academic progress.
 - Whether there are any exceptional circumstances related to the student's unsatisfactory academic performance that should be considered and which could mitigate against refusing readmission.
- A statement of the outcome of the appeal and a motivation for the decision reached must be communicated to and placed on the student's record by Faculty Academic Administration.

RECOGNITION OF PRIOR LEARNING AND ADMISSION TO SHORT LEARNING PROGRAMMES

According to Nelson Mandela University's Policy on Recognition of Prior Learning (RPL) "is accepted practice in higher education institutions and aims to increase access to higher education for many people for whom this was previously not possible." Furthermore "... the South African Higher Education and Training sector has become aware of the need to recognise and accredit prior learning wherever it may have occurred rather than using the limiting conceptualisation of the past (e.g., that learning can only take place in formal contexts). By using RPL, higher education institutions can contribute to attempts to redress inequities in the distribution of learning opportunities and to promote lifelong learning through widening access to adult learners."

The purpose of Nelson Mandela University Policy is to "is to provide institutional guidelines on the principles and processes that provide a basis for faculty-specific (RPL) practices and procedures and their moderation at the Nelson Mandela University."

As General Principal underpinning the Nelson Mandela University RPL Policy is that "The evaluation of prior learning is an academic task and, like other forms of assessment, is done by academic experts in each field, drawing on other professional support experts as needed. RPL assessments and practices are thus framed to suit the differing contexts of specific programmes/modules and are subject to quality assurance in a faculty."

The RPL Process Guidelines for Faculties as set out by the Nelson Mandela University policy are:

- The programme coordinator/head of department will screen and advise the adult learner whether RPL is an option that they could pursue and what the procedure will generally entail.
- The Programme Coordinator/Head of Department recommends an assessor(s) and moderator(s) to the FMC and the FMC approves their appointment.
- The assessor(s) advise the applicant on how to gather and present the evidence required to demonstrate that they have met the stated learning outcomes and associated assessment criteria, and how the evidence needs to be presented for assessment.
- The assessment of the applicant is undertaken in a fair, transparent way against explicit assessment criteria and through applying the required principles and quality assurance mechanisms. The Programme Coordinator/Head of Department is responsible for ensuring that quality assurance requirements have been met.
- The outcome of the RPL process, including written reports by the assessor(s) and moderator(s) and a recommendation regarding status recognition and admission to a programme, articulation or recognition/granting of credits for a module, will be documented by the Programme Coordinator/Head of Department concerned.

- The final decision regarding the recognition of status and admission of the RPL candidate to a particular programme of study will be made by the relevant Faculty Management Committee (FMC).”

The aim of this document is to give effect to the Nelson Mandela University RPL policy which require that faculties to spell out their RPL approach and processes.

A. RECOGNITION OF PRIOR LEARNING

The RPL process is a process through which non-formal learning and informal learning are measured for recognition across different contexts and certified against the requirements for credit, access, inclusion or advancement in the formal education and training system. RPL processes can include guidance and counselling and extended preparation for assessment. RPL is multi-contextual. How it takes place differs from one context to another. RPL may be developed and implemented differently for the purposes of personal development, further learning and advancement in the workplace, and recognition within the three Sub-frameworks of the NQF.

Furthermore, it may be conducted by a variety of methods using a combination of teaching-learning, mentoring and/or assessment approaches, as appropriate. The purposes and contexts determine the practices and outcomes of RPL in each case. RPL may be conducted at any level of learning and at any NQF level.

One of the ways in which the Nelson Mandela University gives expression to its mission of offering a diverse range of educational opportunities that contribute to local, national, and global sustainability is to create a variety of access pathways for prospective students. In this regard, the Law Faculty is strongly committed to RPL as an access pathway to facilitate lifelong learning opportunities with respect to:

- a) Granting the necessary entry status to an applicant who has relevant work and/or study experience but does not have a formal school-leaving qualification (when applying for undergraduate studies) or the prerequisite prior higher education qualification (when applying for postgraduate studies). In this instance, only a letter of status is issued, and not a qualification. The letter of status allows access to the next level of study.
- b) Credit for or exemption from a module or modules in a programme based on relevant work, life and/or study experience may additionally be granted if it is found that all the learning outcomes for the module(s) have been met¹.
- c) Articulating between programme types to facilitate mobility and progression (e.g., when an applicant either with a diploma or having completed some diploma modules applies for entry to a degree programme).

RPL is an access mechanism in which the previous learning and experience of an applicant acquired through formal², non-formal³ and informal⁴ means is systematically evaluated against the learning outcomes and assessment criteria for a prerequisite prior qualification, a different type of higher education qualification or a specific module and that which meets the requirements is recognised for purposes of granting the necessary status to be admitted to a qualification, to articulate into another type of higher education qualification or to be awarded credit for or be exempted from a module in a qualification. A RPL evaluation may include assessment of knowledge, competencies and skills, on-

the-job experience and life experience and should demonstrate an appropriate balance between theory and practical application.

A.1. PRINCIPLES

- (1) The focus is on what has been learned and not on the status of the institution, organisation, or place where the learning was obtained.
- (2) Credit is awarded for knowledge and skills acquired through experience and not for experience alone.
- (3) Prior learning is made explicit through assessment and/or other methods that engage the intrinsic development of knowledge, skills and competencies acquired.
- (4) Candidate guidance and support, the preparation of evidence and the development of an appropriate combination of further teaching and learning, mentoring and assessment approaches are core to RPL practice.

Qualifications and part qualifications registered on the NQF may be awarded in whole or in part through RPL. Processes followed must be credible, quality assured and consistent with accepted and approved principles, criteria, and regulations of SAQA, the relevant Quality.

Council and the institution concerned. In this connection, qualifications and part qualifications registered on the NQF must include provision for alternative entry-level requirements so that candidates can be admitted to study towards the qualification, or part qualification, through RPL. Each RPL applicant will be assessed on an individual basis.

A.2. PROCEDURE

Prospective students who wish to receive recognition of prior learning must follow the process as set out below:

- (1) Applicant to approach the relevant academic department regarding the NMU RPL policy and process.
- (2) The academic department will screen and advise if the RPL process is an option.
- (3) Applicant to complete normal NMU application form and pay application fee.
- (4) The application serves at the Faculty Management Meeting (FMC) which decides on a suitable assessor and method of assessment.
- (5) The department appoints an assessor approved by FMC.
- (6) The assessor meets with the applicant with regards to the RPL process and how to gather and present the evidence required according to the method of assessment prescribed by the FMC.
- (7) The assessment is undertaken against specific assessment criteria. The Head of Department (HoD) is responsible for ensuring that quality assurance requirements have been met.
- (8) The RPL assessment is moderated.
- (9) RPL assessment methods for Honours/Postgraduate Diplomas/Advanced Diplomas/ Diploma and Higher Certificate Programmes will include:
 - a) A standardised assessment as approved by the FMC and provided by the academic department and/or
 - b) An RPL portfolio* which will be assessed by an academic department member appointed by the FMC (The FMC will decide whether an assessment or a portfolio will be required, or whether both will be required)
- (10) RPL assessment methods for master's Programmes will include:
 - a) A standardised assessment as approved by FMC and provided by the academic department and/or
 - b) An RPL Portfolio* which will be assessed by an academic department member appointed by the FMC (The FMC will decide whether an assessment or a portfolio will be required, or whether both will be required)
- (11) The outcome of the RPL process, including written reports by the assessor and a recommendation regarding status, recognition and admission to the programme, articulation or recognition/granting of credits for module(s) will be documented by the HoD and submitted to the Faculty Management Committee (FMC).

- (12) The final report regarding the RPL status of the applicant to the particular programme of study will be presented to FMC. The RPL decision is reached by the Faculty Management Committee (FMC).
- (13) The FMC secretary will communicate the outcome and FMC decision to the applicant and captures the decision on ITS.
- (14) Appeals concerning the outcome of the RPL results will be lodged with the Faculty Academic Administration Manager who will deal with the appeal in terms of the NMU policy.

*RPL Portfolio may include:

- Formal and non-formal qualifications obtained (if any)
- Statement from employees or other relevant line managers (or equitant)
- Any research or position papers completed
- Involvement in professional bodies relevant to academic discipline
- Assessments and results of relevant formal and informal courses completed
- A reflective journal
- Reasons why students want to enrol for a particular qualification
- Oral presentation
- Short examination or written text

B. ADMISSION TO NON-CREDIT BEARING SHORT LEARNING PROGRAMMES

Prospective learners who do not have matric or an NQF Level 4 equivalent qualification, but who want to be admitted attending a non-credit bearing short learning programme (SLP) may be allowed to enrol for such SLPs. Provided they have met with all the admission requirements of the various Level 4 SLP's⁵, students could thereafter gain access to higher level non-credit bearing SLP's. The credits accumulated through the completion of non-credit bearing SLP's may be taken into consideration when prospective learners apply for RPL.

Prospective learners must be advised that:

- Completion of non-credit bearing SLPs would provide no articulation on to any formal programme offered by the university.
- All marketing material must clearly reflect this.

C. ADMISSION TO CREDIT BEARING SHORT LEARNING PROGRAMMES

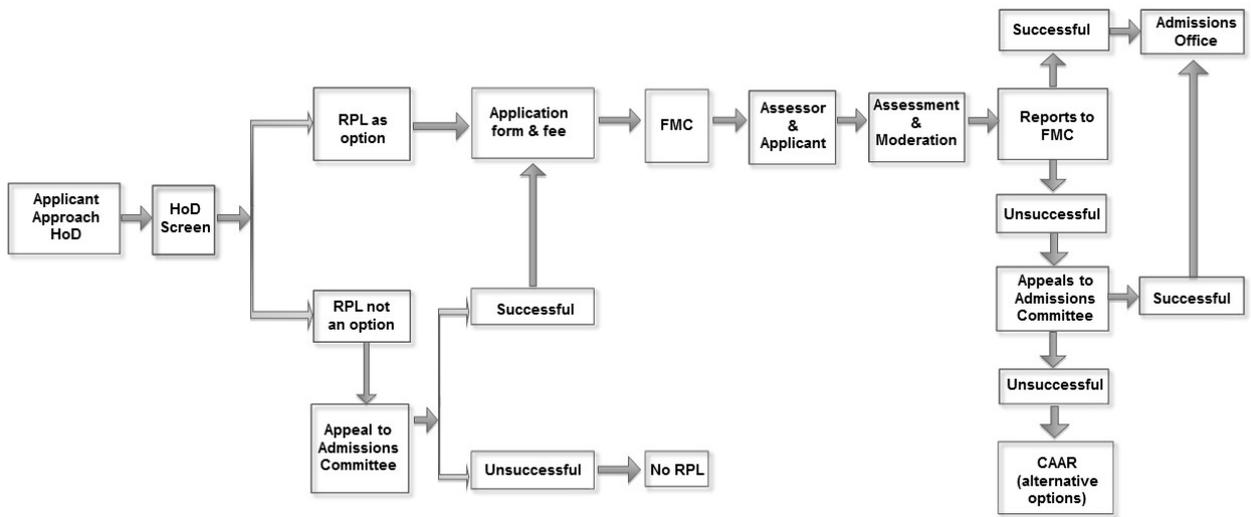

Learners who have a matric and extensive working experience or who have attended and passed prior short learning programmes within the faculty but who do not meet with the admission requirements of the university to higher studies may either:

- be admitted to register for a credit bearing SLP; or
- complete no more than 50% of the SLPs linked to a formal programme e.g. the Higher Certificate: Law Enforcement.

If such learners wish to pursue further formal studies the prospective student would have to apply to the law faculty to be admitted to such a programme and receive preliminary registration, provided that the faculty could decide to admit the student on RPL outcomes.

The academic records of persons who had attended and complied with the assessment requirements of specific SLP's may be used to strengthen their RPL applications on to formal qualifications e.g. the Higher Certificate: Law Enforcement. Other RPL focus areas to monitor and assess would be communication skills and literacy levels.

⁵ These requirements may differ from SLP to SLP

THE PURPOSE OF THE LEARNING PROGRAMME

This qualification has been approved in terms of the new Higher Education Qualification Sub-Framework (HEQSF).

- This programme is focused on law enforcement in the marine and coastal environment. Apart from the obvious role players in this environment, all coastal municipalities have a governing and law enforcement function in this field. This obligation is imposed by The White paper for Sustainable Coastal Development in South Africa, of section 24 of the Constitution, Schedules 4 and 5 of the Constitution and the National Environmental Management: Integrated Coastal Management Act 24 of 2008. In some municipalities, municipal law enforcement officers are also ex officio fisheries control officers. Apart from these ex officio appointments, all municipal law enforcement officers can be appointed as honorary fisheries control officers and the relevant Department is in the process of doing this. This means that the officials must be trained to enforce marine and coastal legislation as well as by-laws. Schedules 4 and 5 of the Constitution assigns functions to local government that overlap with marine and coastal management. Examples include beach management, by-laws regulating land-based activities that impact on the coastal zone, the coast and vendors, disaster management, marine water quality, waste, estuaries coastal dune and coastal wetland management and a host of other functions.
- The need for the integration of law enforcement activities between the various government departments and municipalities is further emphasised by the fact that one of the key initiatives of Operation Phakisa is "Marine Protection Governance Initiative 5: Enhanced Coordinated Enforcement". Operation Phakisa is a national policy designed to achieve significant government and economic transformation in a short time. This operation is initially implemented in two sectors, namely the ocean economy and health. The re-directed focus of this qualification is directly aligned with Operation Phakisa.
- Although the programme is focused on the enforcement of by-laws and marine and coastal legislation these role players often act in conjunction with other law enforcement agencies such as SAPS (South African Police Service) and SARS (South African Revenue Service) and they play a vital role in the crime chain - from the detection of a crime to the presentation of the case in court. The skills and knowledge needed to be an effective part of this chain is addressed by the curriculum.
- Students will have to, as a basis, demonstrate a sound understanding of the general principles of criminal law and procedure, with a special focus on relevant legislation, including a variety of subordinate legislation. Students must master various practical aspects of the separate phases of law enforcement. All of this would need to be considered within the context of the constitution. The curriculum therefore includes modules dealing inter alia with criminal procedure and evidence, as well as with the processes relating to criminal investigation, crime scene management and conducting a criminal trial.
- The skills level of candidates will be enhanced through many practical learning activities in selected modules, for example applying their acquired knowledge relating to crime scene management at a realistically simulated crime scene, or writing up, in the prescribed format, a statement taken from a witness or victim of a crime.

THE PURPOSE OF THE LEARNING PROGRAMME

This programme has been approved in terms of the new Higher Education Qualification Sub-Framework (HEQSF).

This qualification may be followed by a two-year LLB qualification.

- To familiarise students with the content and basic theories of several disciplines in the humanities and social sciences, at the basic and intermediate level, and to provide them with a deeper grasp of one or more of these disciplines taken at exit level (level 6), as well as to enable them to place new knowledge in context and to use appropriate methods for seeking resolution of problems;
- To provide students with a variety of basic scholarly and intellectual competencies, including the ability to question critically the assumptions of a limited range of theories and authorities, and to develop an understanding of elementary research methods used within one or more disciplines;
- To equip students with the ability to give an accurate account of scholarly positions and the competence to express their own opinions clearly and coherently, both in written and oral communication;
- To prepare students for post learner study;
- To provide students with a well-rounded and broad education across several of disciplines, thus preparing them for a wide range of professions crucial to the welfare of society;
- To produce students who can think laterally, critically, and creatively;
- To produce students who are prepared for life-long learning;
- To produce students who understand the principles of, and are capable of “critical citizenship”
- The new stream will allow students to combine a major in the Humanities with a major in Law, a combination that is available at most other Faculties of Law, in parallel with the BCom stream in Law.
- The main purpose of the new stream is to serve as sound preparation for a student who wishes to continue with a two-year LLB thereafter. Students who graduate with an LLB degree can practice as legal practitioners. The programme is also structured in such a way that it will alternatively enable the student to continue with an honours degree in the Humanities major. In this way it serves to broaden the career opportunities for the BA graduate significantly.

ADMISSION REQUIREMENTS

- Minimum NSC (National Senior Certificate) statutory requirements for degree entry must be met.

BACHELOR OF COMMERCE IN LAW

Qualification code:	40144
Offering:	Full-time South Campus (A1)
Aligned NQF (National Qualifications Framework) Level:	7
SAQA ID:	87057
Total NQF Credits for qualification:	380/383/394

THE PURPOSE OF THE LEARNING PROGRAMME

This programme has been approved in terms of the new Higher Education Qualification Sub-Framework (HEQSF).

- The BCom (Law) programme was introduced as a stream of an approved qualification, namely the LLB degree, as stakeholders in the legal profession have for many years asserted that it is important to expose prospective new entrants to the profession to a range of non-law disciplines to equip them optimally for the challenges of their chosen career. This approach has been strongly endorsed by the faculty and the profession. The BCom (Law) stream has served this purpose well over the years. The BCom (Law) programme is tailor-made for students who are interested in combining the fields of commerce and law.
- The degree equips students for exciting careers as legal professionals in a commercial environment in the private or public sector. Graduates can specialise in a wide range of commercial legal fields such as the resolution of labour disputes, facilitating negotiation and conflict resolution. Graduates also act as legal, risk and compliance consultants.
- In addition to providing students with a broad perspective on both legal and commercial matters, the BCom (Law) lays an excellent foundation for a more advanced study of Law. If followed by a two-year LLB qualification the graduates will then be able to practise as legal practitioners because of their broader academic background.
- The BCom (Law) degree provides a thorough grounding in more than one of the academic disciplines traditionally associated with a BCom degree – to the extent that the graduate will be able to pursue postgraduate studies in a BCom associated discipline such as Business Management, Accounting or Economics.

BACHELOR OF LAWS / BACCALAUREUS LEGUM (EXTENDED)

Qualification code:	54115
Offering:	Full-time South Campus (A7)
Aligned NQF Level:	8
SAQA ID:	87252
Total NQF Credits for qualification:	520

THE PURPOSE OF THE LEARNING PROGRAMME

This qualification has been approved in terms of the new Higher Education Qualification Sub-Framework (HEQSF).

- The LLB degree prepares students for entry into legal practice, into a wide range of other careers which require the application of law, and for post-graduate studies in law. The purpose of the LLB is to offer a broad education that develops well-rounded graduates with:
 - a knowledge and appreciation of the values and principles enshrined in the Constitution;
 - a critical understanding of theories, concepts, principles, ethics, perspectives, methodologies, and procedures of the discipline of law;
 - ability to apply the above appropriately to academic, professional and career contexts; and
 - capacity to be accountable and take responsibility in academic, professional, and relevant societal contexts.
- The purpose of this generic LLB qualification is to assist employers, professional associations, curriculum developers and learning-programme providers, education and training bodies, accrediting bodies and moderators, and students and their families, to understand factors determining the level and nature of the LLB qualification.
- The term 'generic' is not synonymous with 'general.' The term generic means that the essential minimum-required outcomes and their assessment criteria have been identified in an abstract way and are not linked to a preconceived curriculum (content). The qualification, therefore, sets a minimum standard of outcomes with which all LLB qualifications of at least 480 credits within the 'career-focused track' of the NQF would have to comply for accreditation.
- This qualification does not seek to make all LLB degrees identical but rather to provide a framework within which providers can be innovative and stakeholder-driven in a liberated way.
- Further aims of the qualifications are:
 - To produce law graduates who have a systematic and coherent body of knowledge and an understanding of relevant concepts and principles; a high level of cognitive and other generic skills including problem-solving and the practical application of principles; written and spoken communication, numeracy and computer literacy; and competence in applying knowledge through basic research methods and practice.
 - To provide law graduates with sufficient depth of knowledge and skills for continued and lifelong personal intellectual growth, including postgraduate study.
 - To provide suitably qualified law graduates having initiative, responsibility, and the requisite ethical standards to participate in promoting the administration of justice and the development of legal institutions in South African society.
 - To provide the South African community with lawyers who are empowered to accept their responsibility towards the realisation of a just society based on a constitutional democracy and the rule of law within an international legal order.

ADMISSION REQUIREMENTS

- An applicant with NSC Grade 12 Mathematics requires a minimum Applicant Score of 370.

- NSC achievement rating of at least 60% for English Home or 65% for English First Additional Language.

- NSC achievement rating of at least 45% for Mathematics or 70% for Mathematical Literacy or Technical Mathematics.

STATUTORY AND OTHER REQUIREMENTS

BACHELOR OF LAWS/BACCALAUREUS LEGUM (4-YEAR QUALIFICATION)

Qualification code:	54110
Offering:	Full-time South Campus (A1)
Aligned NQF (National Qualifications Framework) Level:	8
SAQA ID:	87252
Total NQF Credits for qualification:	502

THE PURPOSE OF THE LEARNING PROGRAMME

This qualification has been approved in terms of the new Higher Education Qualification Sub-Framework (HEQSF).

- The LLB degree prepares students for entry into legal practice, into a wide range of other careers which require the application of law, and for post-graduate studies in law. The purpose of the LLB is to offer a broad education that develops well-rounded graduates with:
 - a knowledge and appreciation of the values and principles enshrined in the Constitution;
 - a critical understanding of theories, concepts, principles, ethics, perspectives, methodologies, and procedures of the discipline of law;
 - ability to apply the above appropriately to academic, professional and career contexts; and
 - capacity to be accountable and take responsibility in academic, professional, and relevant societal contexts.
- The purpose of this generic LLB qualification is to assist employers, professional associations, curriculum developers and learning-programme providers, education and training bodies, accrediting bodies and moderators, and students and their families, to understand factors determining the level and nature of the LLB qualification.
- The term 'generic' is not synonymous with 'general.' The term generic means that the essential minimum-required outcomes and their assessment criteria have been identified in an abstract way and are not linked to a preconceived curriculum (content). The qualification, therefore, sets a minimum standard of outcomes with which all LLB qualifications of at least 480 credits within the 'career-focused track' of the NQF would have to comply for accreditation.
- This qualification does not seek to make all LLB degrees identical but rather to provide a framework within which providers can be innovative and stakeholder-driven in a liberated way.
- Further aims of the qualifications are:
 - To produce law graduates who have a systematic and coherent body of knowledge and an understanding of relevant concepts and principles; a high level of cognitive and other generic skills including problem-solving and the practical application of principles; written and spoken communication, numeracy, and computer literacy; and competence in applying knowledge through basic research methods and practice.
 - To provide law graduates with sufficient depth of knowledge and skills for continued and lifelong personal intellectual growth, including postgraduate study.
 - To provide suitably qualified law graduates having initiative, responsibility, and the requisite ethical standards to participate in promoting the administration of justice and the development of legal institutions in South African society.
 - To provide the South African community with lawyers who are empowered to accept their responsibility towards the realisation of a just society based on a constitutional democracy and the rule of law within an international legal order.

POSTGRADUATE DIPLOMAS

SAQA ID:	94843
Total NQF Credits for qualification:	120

THE PURPOSE OF THE LEARNING PROGRAMME

This qualification has been approved in terms of the new Higher Education Qualification Sub-Framework (HEQSF).

- The purpose of the qualification is to enhance the professional competence of qualified lawyers and labour relations/labour law practitioners in labour dispute resolution processes.
- The programme will provide these practitioners with an opportunity to undertake advanced reflection in areas of the law pertaining to labour law practice, as well as focus on the development of specialised skills in these areas of practice.
To achieve this, students need to be exposed to advanced aspects of substantive labour law, as well as to labour dispute resolution mechanisms, collective bargaining and conciliation practice, practical application of the law of evidence in labour dispute resolution processes, labour arbitration practice, and the rules and practice applied in the Labour Court and Labour Appeal Court. This will be analysed and critiqued in the context of achieving social justice.
- The curriculum therefore includes modules in substantive and procedural labour law with specific analysis of the dispute resolution mechanisms, practices and skills required to participate and interact effectively within this context.
- The programme also allows candidates to develop enhanced writing skills in labour dispute resolution aimed at either writing CCMA rulings or awards, or drafting Labour Court or Labour Appeal Court pleadings, depending on the individual candidate's preferred area of practice, thus allowing for a measure of occupational specialisation.

ADMISSION REQUIREMENTS

Unless Senate decides otherwise, candidates shall be admitted to the study for the Postgraduate Diploma only if they:

- have obtained an LLB degree, an appropriate bachelor's degree, or a qualification deemed by Senate to be equivalent to an LLB or an appropriate Bachelor's degree and have obtained a mark of at least 55 percent in the major modules of the degree or qualification, or
- have obtained a minimum average of at least 65% in a bridging programme in labour law presented at a South African university and which programme is considered of an appropriate standard, scope, and quality by the relevant Head of Department to allow an applicant admission to the Postgraduate Diploma in Labour Law Practice programme; and
- meet such additional requirements as may be determined by Senate; and
- have been approved as candidates for the Postgraduate Diploma in Labour Law Practice by the Faculty of Law Postgraduate Studies Committee on the recommendation of the Head of the Department following a selection process.

SELECTION PROCEDURE

- The Faculty of Law only admits a limited number of candidates to the Postgraduate Diploma in Labour Law Practice programme as determined each year by the faculty, based on considerations such as available capacity.

After the closing date a committee, chaired by the Head of Department of Mercantile Law, considers all the applications, and compile a list of candidates from qualifying applicants based on academic merit and subject to the number of available places.

- Candidates are selected based on achieving the minimum requirement average of 55% for the LLB or equivalent degree or qualification, on academic merit and on experience in the field of Labour Law. Having obtained an average of 55% for the degree of Bachelor of Laws/Baccalaureus Legum or equivalent thereof or 65% for the relevant bridging course, does not guarantee a place on the Postgraduate Diploma in Labour Law Practice. Applicants who meet the minimum requirements but were not given a place during the selection process will be placed on a waiting list. Acceptance of such students will be granted only upon cancellation of successful candidates.
- The Head of Department of Mercantile Law shall recommend the list of candidates to the Faculty of Law Postgraduate Studies Committee for consideration and approval. The final list of candidates for the Postgraduate Diploma in Labour Law Practice programme is to be approved before the end of September and applicants will be informed of the outcome by 30 September.

RE-ADMISSION REQUIREMENTS

To be re-admitted candidates must have successfully completed at least 50% of the modules for which they were registered in the previous academic year.

STATUTORY AND OTHER REQUIREMENTS

- The Postgraduate Diploma in Labour law Practice may not be offered at the George Campus in a specific year.
- The qualification shall be obtained by completing the modules prescribed by Senate.
- Students must attend two compulsory one-week block lecture periods per year. 100% attendance is required.
- The degree must be completed within four academic years from the first date of registration.
- Students may only register as full-time candidates if they are available on a day-to-day basis to attend and participate in the postgraduate programme. A student who is unable to attend as stated will automatically be defined as a part-time student for the purpose of postgraduate studies. Changes to the status of a candidate from part-time to full-time or vice versa need to be approved by the Chairperson of the Faculty Postgraduate Studies Committee.

DURATION

The curriculum shall extend over one academic year of full-time study or two academic years of part-time study.
